About This Game

The story is about a couple, set on an Island created due to global warming that has flooded most of the Earth's surface.

You moved here to settle down and live the quiet life, far away from civilization.

The problem with this is that nobody notified you of the ongoing world crisis that would alter the fate of all living beings on Earth.

The few neighbors who lived in your vicinity have abandoned the Island in hope of finding out what remains.. without any means of communication there is no telling what they found, if anything.

You must scavenge the Island to find resources to stay alive, due to global warming the climate is quickly shifting from summer to winter temperatures with harsh rain and thunderstorms.

But the most important question.. Are we truly alone in the world? If not, how long until others find this place...
